Building a BUDGET THING

CREATIVE CATEGORIES

No two budgets are alike. The same expense-whether it's a book, a phone bill or a tank of gas-can mean different things to different people. To explore this concept, take a look at how even the simplest categories can be considered a need, a want and/or a savings goal.

Activity: For each budgeting category, write out an expense that could be considered a need, a want and a savings goal. The first category has already been filled out with an example.

BUDGETING WITH 50/30/20

Start by calculating your after-tax income (what you make each month minus taxes and deductions). Limit your necessary expenses to $\mathbf{5 0 \%}$ of that after-tax income. $30 \%$ is yours to spend on all the nonessentials. Set aside 20\% for your mix of savings and debt repayment goals.

Follow-up Questions: What other budget categories could you do this exercise with? Are there expenses in your budget that belong in a different category?
